

The Concordia University Research Chair in Media & Contemporary Literature and the research centre in Technoculture, Art and Games present:

Creation out of Destruction

Reinventing Legal Regulation in the Online Era with Dr. Sunny Handa

Wednesday, October 17, 2012, 5 pm

Engineering, Computer Science & Visual Arts Integrated Complex (EV)
1515 rue Sainte-Catherine O, EV 11.455

Through a series of anecdotes about current consumer technologies (including video games) and current events, Dr. Handa will explain the concept of intellectual property from the ground up, and outline the regulatory concepts that manage it in Canada.

Dr. Handa, a partner at Blakes Montreal and an adjunct professor at McGill University, argues that current technology is actually eroding the usefulness of the legal and regulatory schemes that have been established to manage Canadian cultural content.
